Partnerships

Occupational testing can be a complicated process for clinics, especially when it comes to finding the right partner.

SureHire has been providing occupational testing services since 2005, but our reputation is only as good as our partners. We strive to continue to build strong relationships with clinics across North America in order to grow and be successful.

By partnering with us, you can expect a positive experience that will help your business thrive. Our team is equipped to handle any challenges that may arise during the course of working together so both parties can feel confident about their partnership decision. You'll also have access to exclusive training resources and testing opportunities that will allow you to stay up-to-date on industry best practices for occupational testing. Plus, we're always happy to answer questions from clients or prospective ones!

Our Clients

Many of SureHire's clients are companies involved in oil and gas, construction, transportation, mining, and forestry. These clients are assigned an Account Representative, who is employed by SureHire and dedicated to account management.

Your Clients

We support the retention and maintenance of our clinic partners' current business! Our clients simply act as an additional source of revenue. At SureHire, we understand that you already have a work load of your own and have developed a referral program to help us both succeed in our partnership by generating new business.

Referral Program

We offer a Referral Program to our network partners as a tool to generate new business opportunities in your individual geographic regions. We find our network partners have valuable insight into the needs of the local workforce. Together we can anticipate, and meet the demand for testing in your location.

SureHire will provide payment incentives for all new companies that sign up for testing with us!

Exclusivity

SureHire offers an exclusivity program to our partner clinics. This ensures your clinic receives priority scheduling when requests are made in your geographic region. All company concerns, invoicing, and scheduling is taken care of for you.

Our exclusivity contract means that only SureHire participants will be tested at your facility using SureHire's equipment, supplies, proprietary testing protocols, and training programs. Any new testing business will be scheduled and invoiced through SureHire's referral program.

Training

SureHire provides online training and certification at no cost to the clinic. Our training is tailored to SureHire's policies and procedures. PDF manuals can be provided on request of the clinic, and ongoing support from our National Network department is provided.
